Made Flight of One Hour, 31
Minutes and 15 Seconds at Le Mans, France.

COVERED NEARLY 61 MILES

Darkness Compelled Him to Stop the Flight—Crowd Could Not See Him
during Latter Part of the Trip
—Great Gathering Nearby
Made in His Enthusiasm.

Le Mans, Sept. 21.—In the presence of the officials of the Aero Club of France, a large number of French and foreign officers and aviators, Wilbur Wright, the American aviator, this afternoon captured the world's record for the longest flight over the enclosed ground. Wright made three false starts owing to the oblique direction of the breeze and trouble experienced with the engine. Finally at 5:15 with a fair mile an hour breeze, the aviator got away nicely, sailing majestically up the field amid thundering cheers. After rounding the upper turn Wright swept back to where the thousands were gathered and began describing extraordinary control flying so low that he seemed almost to skim the earth, but on the 15th round he rose to 50 feet.

Today's trial was for the Michelin cup, for the greatest distance covered by an aviator in less than the aero club prize of 1000 ft. for the longest flight over the enclosed ground. Wright made three false starts owing to the oblique direction of the breeze and trouble experienced with the engine. Finally at 5:15 with a fair mile an hour breeze, the aviator got away nicely, sailing majestically up the field amid thundering cheers. After rounding the upper turn Wright swept back to where the thousands were gathered and began describing extraordinary control flying so low that he seemed almost to skim the earth, but on the 15th round he rose to 50 feet.

In the gathering darkness the spectacle became thrilling. The aviator could no longer be seen at the farther end of the field, but the sound of the engine, which had now grown fainter, told Wright still was in the air. At the end of the 15th round, Wright shut off his motor and came lightly to the ground in front of the crowd. With a nod over the crowd broke through the lines and rushed forward, only being prevented from bolting the American in triumph on their shoulders by charging cavalry.

Among the first to reach Mr. Wright's side was Henry White, the American aviator, who told the smiling aviator of the keen pleasure he felt in witnessing his victory. Mr. Wright told the Associated Press that he had descended only because of darkness, he still had sufficient essence in the tank to last an hour. He told his achievement with his usual modesty, but he said that he was especially glad to have established a new world's record for Orville's sake.

FIRE AT LAKE PLACID.

Party of Men Trying to Save the Cottages—Little Green Timber Burned.

Malone, N. Y., Sept. 23.—With only two light showers since July 20, Northern New York's wooded sections are in no condition to withstand the forest fires raging in the vicinity of Mountain View and growing more dangerous hourly. Forty men are trying to save the cottages at the lake and along the river at Lake Placid and with thousands of dollars worth of timber on State land being destroyed each day every available workman is employed in fighting fire. At upper Chateaugay Lake, the fire fighters are working hard to save the woods, camps and hotel property. Tippler Lake is surrounded by fire, though the village is not thought to be in danger.

As yet little green timber in Franklin county has been destroyed, the fire being confined mostly to land previously burned over or on tracts from which too much green timber has been removed.

A report to-night says that a serious fire has started west of Loon Lake.

PAROID is the Standard

Permanent Ready Roofing

There is hardly a manufacturing concern in or around Burlington that has not more or less PAROID ROOFING in use.

Some concerns have as much as 150 to 250 squares.

Several are replacing old roofing with PAROID on their different buildings just as fast as the old wears off.

The heads of these companies are men of good business judgment who realize that known quality at a fair price is always a better proposition than an untried article at a low price.

FINANCIAL REVIEW

Mr. Harriman's Disapproval of Conditions Seared Speculators—Too Much Borrowed Money.

New York, Sept. 23.—The pronounced reactionary tone which developed in the securities market last week was generally attributed to what the financial district called a "political scare." After the result of the Maine election, the campaign known Tuesday the struggle to maintain prices became manifest. The special force given to the "political scare" was due to E. H. Harriman and James J. Hill, giving public utterance to views expressing a feeling of doubt over the outcome of the elections and dissatisfaction with the financial situation. The campaign manifested by voters. Coupled with this tone of disapproval against the assumptions current in Wall Street on the political situation were other circumstances which intensified the impression that these accepted financial authorities found something to criticize in the course to which the speculation has run. This impression was decisive in checking the speculative operations for an advance and precipitating liquidation. Mr. Harriman called in the newspaper men and bluntly denied many of the rumors which had been in circulation regarding his properties and his plans. This action cut away the ground from under the speculation of the most active element in the market operations and implied the disapproval of the man credited with having all his power and influence to the movement.

When it was realized that the supposed responsibility for the course of the market was being practically disavowed there was a quick turn to more attentive consideration of some of the unfavorable factors in the situation. Among these it was not lost sight of that enormous obligations for call loans, presumably employed in market operations were controlled by the financial institutions holding close relations with the wealthy group credited with the leadership in the stock market. The dependence of the speculative position upon this relation was a cause of uneasiness. This was aggravated by the course of the money market. The process of piling up idle resources in the New York banks manifestly had come to a pause with the beginning of the flow of currency out of New York bank reserves and into western and southern channels of trade. The persistent firmness of the foreign exchange market is a factor of all the conditions making for New York control of the exchange. Kept active discussion of gold exports and gave warning of the burden of keeping up securities prices at a level which was attracting foreign holdings to the home market.

Railroad earnings were so far from showing the hoped for recovery that dividend prospects came in for revived discussion. The slowness of the recovery in the iron and steel trades, which has been the object of constant remark was reported to be emphasized and further reductions in the price of copper extended the unfavorable influence into other fields of the metal industry. The anxiety over the drought was but partly relieved by the amount of precipitation and a decrease in the ultimate yield is taken into the reckoning.

FOREST FIRES IN WEST

Many Towns in Wisconsin and Michigan Threatened—Six Lives Lost at Foster City.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 21.—Forest fires are raging in northern Wisconsin and upper Michigan which threaten to wipe out several towns. In several places residents are reported to have had to flee for their lives and at others trains are loaded with goods and people ready to flee to larger centers if the flames reach the critical stages.

Conflicting reports come from Foster City, Mich., a lumber town across the Wisconsin line of Marquette county, one report stating that six persons lost their lives and that a large number of dwellings were destroyed and that the Morgan Lumber company's plant is understood to have been burned.

The fire are in close proximity to several towns in Marinette and Menominee counties, Niagara, Ingalls and Patterson seem to be in the greatest danger. Lake Umbagog north of Calumet is surrounded except on the watered by flames and at Bete Deser, a fire of flames met the people are fighting to save the lighthouse and other buildings. Fifield, a few miles south of Ashland is reported in danger of destruction and aid in the line of fire apparatus has been sent from Minneapolis. Communication with Fifield is cut off to-night.

TWO TOWNS DESTROYED

Four Thousand People Left Homeless by Forest Fires in Wisconsin—Refugees Prostrated by Heat.

Rhineland, Wis., Sept. 21.—The towns of Gagen and Woodboro were destroyed by forest fires yesterday and as a result nearly 4,000 persons are homeless. Men, women and children fought valiantly to save their homes but without avail and at last were forced to flee for their lives. Women carrying children in their arms and men and boys with packs on their backs ran toward Rhineland, many falling prostrate in the heat only to be helped on by the stronger refugees.

Nearly all of those burned out at Gagen reached Rhineland last night and are cared for. But few of the Woodboro people are here and it is not known what has become of all of them. The fire is a fresh one and not a continuation of the fires which did so much damage last week.

When the blaze started the wind was from the west and it was feared Rhineland with its homes for 7,000 persons was doomed also, but a change in the direction of the wind probably has saved the city.

The towns of Gagen and Woodboro are on the Soo railway. Reports from the refugees, who came to this city say nothing is left of Gagen. Citizens have decided to ask the Governor to order out the State militia to assist fighting the flames which because of the dry condition of the woods threaten to destroy the forest. It is feared the fire may shift and the mayor and chief of police believe the danger in Rhineland is not yet over.

Hundreds of men have gone out from this city to fight the flames. A report from those returning say they have made little progress against the fire.

About 200 acres of woodland in Woodstock have been burned over and about $1000 worth of pulp destroyed.

About 200 men worked all day Sunday fighting the fire.

William Cullen Bryant of New York city, owner of an extensive ice plant in New York has purchased a R. I. trout's place in West Brattleboro and will build a summer home there.

Principal E. R. Smith of Brattleboro advocates shortening the course in public schools from 13 to 12 years. He would abolish the ninth grade to accomplish this.

Frank Lawrence of Townshend recently killed a hawk measuring four feet and six inches from tip to tip of the wings by throwing a stick and hitting it on the head.

Miss Katherine G. Dunley of Brattleboro, appointed assistant reporter by Judge Miles in Windham county court, will succeed C. S. Chase as official reporter at the next term.

Forest and Newton Hagar recently saw three bears on Hagar Mountain in Woodford. One of the boys went over the ridge and the other tried to watch the bears. The animals escaped before arms could be secured.

Extensive forest fires raging all around Island Pond and a great force of men are employed fighting them. Alex. Goss lost by fire 35 cords of good hard wood that he had piled up on the Burke road and only very strenuous work saved Will Meehan's property.

Liverman W. L. Fairbanks of Springfield, received a check for $15 from a stranger who claimed to be a horse buyer, which was worthless. He discovered it in time to catch the man at Chester and received $20 in cash for his trouble.

William Leach employed at Liberson's granite quarry in Websterville was instantly killed Friday when a big block of granite tipped on him. His body was badly torn and leg broken. Workmen had great difficulty in releasing the body.

As the result of the confession of Annie Rosen, John Pike of West Rutland, proprietor of a general store, was arrested last week charged with arson. The girl said that Pike, a business rival of her father, offered her money if she would burn her father's block.

When the reservoir at West Rutland ran dry last week, a steam pump was taken to a spring and the water mains were filled therefrom through 500 feet of hose. The spring is only six feet square and about a foot deep but the water has not been perceptibly lowered.

Mrs. Grace A. Canedy of Brattleboro, aged 39 years, died last week as the result of burns received while cleaning gloves with gasoline. She would have been badly crippled had she lived. The accident was caused by a kerosene lamp lighting the fumes from a can of gasoline.

The handy nearness of a pile of sand enabled Edward C. Crosby, a well known contractor and street railroad man, to fall 22 feet and not break a bone. He was superintending the building of a grain elevator and was walking on a ladder when it broke. He landed head first in the sand.

Arthur Herwick attempted to board a moving freight at Lyndonville Saturday night and was thrown under the wheels. One leg was taken off below the knee and the other so badly crushed that amputation will be necessary. He was taken to the Brightlight hospital in St. Johnsbury, where he is in a precarious condition.

At a convention of the Independence party held in Rutland Saturday evening Quimby S. Backus of Brandon, John L. Spellman and Samuel L. Huffmire of Rutland and Robert C. Root of Swanton were named as presidential electors. John D. Spellman was authorized to appoint a State committee of one from each county.

Between June 29 and September 15 one thousand automobile parties were registered at the Equinox House in Manchester. The party average brings the total of persons arriving by motor between 4,000 and 5,000. Nearly all of these cars were on route over the "Ideal Tour" established by the Automobile club of America in June.

Two important questions will come up before the next meeting of the Vermont Wheel club. One is to see whether the present membership limit of 175 be abolished and the other is whether the age limit be reduced from 21 to 18. With the applications for membership which are now pending the limit is reached and it is understood that there are others who are anxious to join.

Beside St. Johnsbury, where the red tags of "tag day" on the houses led people passing through to spread the report that there was smallpox in town, Brattleboro has had its smallpox scare, too. Alfred Verdon died at the hospital and physicians and nurses were thrown into a state of extreme uneasiness until Dr. Caverly of Rutland, president of the State board of health, correctly diagnosed the case as military tuberculosis.

The annual West River Valley Grange fair will be held at Londonderry Thursday, September 24. A fine display of horses, cattle, sheep, swine, poultry and New England products will be made. Among the speakers for the occasion are ex-Senator G. W. Pierce of Brattleboro, present master of the Vermont State Grange, and Judge E. W. Gibson, senator-elect from Windham county.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of General Passenger Agent Franklin E. Barbour of the Rutland railroad and Mrs. Beriel Gilliam, widow of the cartoonist, Bernard Gilliam, of Canaan, N. Y. Mr. Barbour kept the matter entirely secret and nothing was known of it until a weekly newspaper from central New York arrived in Rutland.

Silas Montgomery, a seven-year-old boy of South Shutesbury, died last week from an illness caused by being hit by a snow ball last winter. The boy was hit in the eye and the injury resulted in a growth which completely closed the eye. The boy had been in the hospital in the city of Boston and had been seen by numerous specialists, none of whom had ever seen a case of the kind before.

At the request of the State board of health, George W. Pierce of Brattleboro, master of the Vermont State Grange, has appointed the following delegates to the international tuberculosis congress to be held in Washington, D. C., September 21: Dr. Edward Campbell of Bellows Falls, Dr. F. L. Osmond of Townshend, Dr. H. D. Colby of Sudbury, Dr. L. H. Hughes of Putney and Judge E. R. Pierce of Rawsonville, all members of the Grange.

The State board of railroad commissioners has announced its formal decision on the petition for a new railroad station at White River Junction, saying: We find that the public convenience demands that said passenger station remain in its present location, and public safety and convenience require that the necessity of crossing and stopping tracks at grade, in going to and from the station, be eliminated by the construction of a subway for teams and pedestrians between the points.

Owing to the great scarcity of native partridges some Bennington men are planning to stock the mountain slopes with Hungarian partridge as soon as, even before, the present open season closes in December. It is claimed for the imported birds that they will endure an even more rigorous winter than usually prevail in Vermont, and that they can be raised in captivity until old enough to be set at large, something that has never been accomplished with the native grouse.

About 600 men are now employed building the dam across the Connecticut river between Vernon and Hinsdale and on the road work on each side of the river. During the day about 200 men work on the dam, and a force of 100 men work through the night. About 100 more are building roads to take the places of those which will be flooded when the water gets back. Concrete is being laid for the foundation of the power house, which will extend from the middle of the river to the Vermont side.

The Crescent Valley Hotel at Pawlet is being torn down by a couple of Pawlet speculators who will acquire a share in the material for raising it. The Crescent alley was built in 1884 and has been managed at various times by different hotel men, but without success. The money which built the hotel was put in by farmers mostly, but the investment was nearly ruined through the investment. It cost about $60,000, and for the past few years has been owned by O. P. Black, who acquired it on mortgage.

A search of the premises of Frederick Bartlett in the town of Rockingham by Springfield officers recently revealed a large amount of goods that have been stolen from cottages along the Connecticut river. Bartlett, his two sons, Eli, and Felix were arrested, taken to Bellows Falls and arraigned before Justice T. E. O'Brien on the charge of grand larceny. Eli waived examination and was bound over to the fall term of county court now in session under bonds of $500, which he was unable to raise. Felix was taken to Newfane jail. Felix who is only twenty years old, was arrested by farmers mostly, but the investment was nearly ruined through the investment. It cost about $60,000, and for the past few years has been owned by O. P. Black, who acquired it on mortgage.

The State federation of Woman's clubs meets in Brattleboro October 7 and 8, not October 6 and 7, as has been reported elsewhere. The meetings began at nine o'clock Wednesday morning and continued through the day. There will be a reception Wednesday evening and a lecture or concert Thursday evening. Further notice of all these meetings will be given. The arts and crafts exhibit will be held in the Baptist chapel from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. on both days. Among many other things exhibited will be special prizes, a calendar, a car, etc., from three famous printing establishments. The Roycroft Shop of East Aurora, N. Y., the Mosher Print of Portland, Me., and the shop of Alfred Bartlett, Cornhill, Boston. All these things will be for sale, although the object of the exhibit is to show what really fine book printing is. At the Brattleboro club are urged to attend the meetings and to visit the arts and crafts exhibit.

WHOLE MOUNTAINS MASS OF FLAMES

Thousands of Acres of Forest
Lands on Fire in New York State.

HUNDREDS OF FIRE FIGHTERS

A Line of Flames 18 Miles Long and 10 Miles Wide in Johnsbury—Many Lumber Camps, Barns and Bridges Destroyed—Farm House in Danger.

North Creek, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Thousands of acres of public and private forest lands surrounding this village are being burned over, and if rain does not fall within a few hours the destruction will be widespread.

The worst fire is at Mill Brook, in the southern part of this town (Johnsbury) where a line of flames, 18 miles long and 10 miles wide accompanied by great clouds of smoke, is eating its way from the Hudson river at Thurman westward toward the interior of the Adirondack State park. The fire wardens are calling out every available man and a force of 200 men under Fire Warden Merrill and Game Protector Robert Somerville are fighting this fire day and night. They have been unable to hold it in check, however, although at one point a line of trenches five miles long has been dug.

Westward from here, at Thirteenth Lake, Indian Lake and Cedar River thousands of acres of timber are said to be burning and Peaked, Colvin, Sugar Loaf and Eleventh Mountains all are in flames. There also is a big fire surrounding Unknown Pond.

In the Indian Lake district many lumber camps, barns and bridges have been burned and scores of farm houses are in danger. The fire has advanced to within three miles of Indian Lake village and a high wind from almost any point of the compass will put the village in danger. The buildings of the garnet mines of the Barton and Hopper districts are threatened and large forces of men are fighting without cessation to save them. In some places the fire fighters are unable to obtain water even for drinking purposes, and fighting the flames has to be done entirely with pick and axe.

Big fires are reported at Cold River, 40 miles northwest of here, where it is said 200 men under command of the Santa Clara lumber company have been fighting for five days.

According to the State authorities the fires have been confined entirely to areas previously burned over or lumbered which were covered with brush.

1000 MEN FIGHTING

E. S. Leonard, an inspector of the forest fish and game commission, came to Albany to-day and stated that the Delaware and Hudson company had closed its iron mines at Lyon mountain so that the large force of men, about 1,000, might be utilized in fighting the fires along the Chateaugay railroad. The blaze centers along Bradley pond, between Lyon Mountain and Hazy pond and is believed to be under control.

FIRES UNDER CONTROL.

Vigilant Watch in Maine Maintained to Prevent Another Outbreak.

Augusta, Me., Sept. 21.—Although practically all of the forest fires which have swept the timberlands throughout the State during the past three days, threatening homesteads and property on every side, were under control to-day, the vigilance maintained everywhere lest a change in the wind should bring the flames in a position to successfully challenge the fire fighters' efforts to check them. Throughout the night under the influence of the heavy night air and the increasing dew and moisture the fires apparently were lessened and no serious outbreaks were reported.

The only blaze which remained as a threatening menace to property when nightfall fell in last night, was that at Scarborough, but this was reported to-day to have been checked by the firemen so that there was but little possibility of its getting beyond their control.

Dillingham will speak on immigration at the meeting of Nov. 18. On Dec. 2 Mrs. P. F. Hagen of St. Johnsbury will speak on "Our State Institutions."
